

PREMIERE

Guggenheim Fellow 2025,
Stephanie García, presents
her most recent production
“What Have We Lost?”

Kingsbury Hall. SLC, UT. USA.
Feb 12 @ 7:30pm | SOLD OUT
Feb 13 @ 7:30pm | SOLD OUT
Feb 14 @ 7:30 pm | LOW AVAILABILITY

Punto de Inflexión is excited to invite you to the premiere of “What Have We Lost?”, a piece by Stephanie García & Peter Hay.

Presented by UtahPresents, this immersive interdisciplinary performance explores humanity's current condition and reflects on what remains in the aftermath of catastrophe.

More info & Tickets.

Watch promo:

What Have We Lost? What Have We Lost?

What Have We Lost? What Have We Lost?

Read the interview by Mitsu
Salmon with Stephanie García at loveDANCEmore

A process that gives peace. Mitsu Salmon interviews Stephanie García on migration and ecological disaster through her new work 'What Have We Lost?'

February 3, 2026

I sat down with choreographer and interdisciplinary artist Stephanie García to talk about her creative process, collaboration, and the questions shaping her new work, What Have We Lost? García speaks about a practice grounded in inquiry, where meaning develops gradually through the process of making. Our conversation touches on injustice, migration, ecocide, and embodiment, while staying closely tied to the practical realities of creating work with others. What Have We Lost? is presented by Utah Presents' Stage Door Series and runs February 12–14, 2026. Link to tickets here.

